

Rewrite this Orientation-

Background to the story-

The story is a love story, where the protagonist wishes to marry his girlfriend, but is not allowed due to the genetic purity laws. His girlfriend has been designated a 'non-breeder' due to the high chance of having babies with cancer.

Re write the following paragraph-

I woke up. I had a horrible feeling. The automatic floating monitor turned on as the alarm went off to relate the news that the World Genetic Council was embarking on moving all non- breeders to the Australian island of Tasmania. I was shocked. How could I be with the love of my life; Sheryl with the fear of the blackshirts coming at any time to take her away.

Your task is to re-write this orientation to make it more descriptive.

Attempt to use- emotive and engaging adjectives, short dramatic senses and describe what is happening- just don't tell the story.
